今卸任公共卫生理事会主席

迪西瓦：清理垃圾应变成国人DNA

董德华 迪西瓦担任公共卫生理事会主席的这八年，已看到一些年轻人和年长者对卫生有较强的意识，情况有些改善。“总的来说有稍微进步，但关键在于心态必须改变，而这也是最困难的。”

董德华 报道
gohzhenhua@phc.com.sg

新加坡的卫生和清洁水平仍有很大的进步空间。国人改变对卫生的心态，让清理垃圾的习惯成为国人的DNA。

公共卫生理事会主席爱德华·迪西瓦（Edward D'Silva，72岁）希望大多数国人上梁清管理，使新加坡能像日本那样，“有能力的垃圾分类”。

他也希望看到国人保持和逐渐养成的好习惯。而且保持公厕卫生，因为许多公厕的卫生水平仍无法达标。

八年主席任期至今最长

《联合早报》日前访问将于星期三（5月31日）卸下公共卫生理事会主席职务的迪西瓦，并询问他为何会担任水平最高。

他说：“八年前有大约九成的公厕‘不干净’。如今略有进步，但仍不达标的是占约八成。‘我现在的目标是将占约八成，不再有清洁物中心和机场的公厕。’”

5月31日卸任的公共卫生理事会主席董德华，迪西瓦认为，卫生水平不达标的本地公厕还占约八成，以咖啡店和小贩中心为主。（特约记者摄）

长者对卫生有较强意识，情况有所改善。“总的来说有稍微进步，但关键在于心态必须改变，而这也是最困难的。”

迪西瓦领导公共卫生理事会所做的三个贡献：

一是在任期初期领导公共卫生理事会所举办的三个项目：

迪西瓦说：“第一个是2016年代表理事会向教育部建议任何学生

参与每日的校园清洁活动，结果获得采纳；另一个是2017年推

出“保洁计划”，新加坡长达一个月的“保洁计划”，新加

坡获采纳。第三个是2021年4月启动首

届全岛新加坡清洁日（SG Clean Day），让清洁工停止清扫垃圾一整天，借此教育和提醒公众不要乱扔垃圾。”

迪西瓦呼吁民众，他感激理

事会团队和国家环境局一路来的

支持，并希望接任的经理理事会展

示出积极态度推进和激励外

联活动，让国人对卫生清洁方面

有更强的DNA。”

Mr Edward D'Silva, 72, hopes that more people will take charge of their own rubbish so that Singapore can have very few rubbish bins like Japan.

Lianhe Zaobao recently interviewed Mr D'Silva, who has stepped down as the chairman of the Public Hygiene Council (PHC) on 31 May 2023, and asked him to rate the sanitation level of public toilets. He said that eight years ago, about 90 per cent of the public toilets were unclean. Today, there is a slight improvement, but about 80 per cent of the public toilets remains unclean. He added that these are mainly toilets at coffee shops and hawker centres, excluding those in shopping malls and airports.

Mr D'Silva added that it is necessary to remind Singaporeans that maintaining a clean environment in Singapore is an arduous task. Having said that, during his eight years stint as chairman of the PHC, he has observed improvements in hygiene awareness amongst the young and elderly. In general, more can be done, but the mentality of residents about littering has to change, and that is the hardest part. Mr D'Silva is grateful to the council team, NEA and MSE for their support.

Cleaning up rubbish should be in Singapore's DNA

Representatives from supporting organisations attending the SG Clean Day Largest Cleanup briefing held at MSE Hall on 11 April.

In preparation for SG Clean Day Largest Cleanup event on 17 May, the Public Hygiene Council (PHC) organised a partners briefing on 11 April for organisations taking part in the SG Clean Day Largest Cleanup event held at the F1 Pit Building as well as at decentralised locations islandwide. During the briefing, participants were given a run down on the proposed programme of SG Clean Day Largest Cleanup activity, as well as a preview of some of the exciting booths and fringe activities prepared for participants coming for the SG Clean Day Largest Cleanup.

Groups taking part in the decentralised clean-up locations at parks and heartland areas were also briefed on how they could take part in the virtual flag-off via Zoom in order to be part of the SG Clean Day Largest Cleanup event.

Close to 100 people from the public, private, corporate and NGO sectors from 55 supporting organizations took time off their busy schedules to attend this SG Clean Day Largest Cleanup briefing at MSE Hall.

The PHC clocked in two entries in the Singapore Book of Records!

- New record for the most number of people in multiple-location mass clean-up
- To break the current record of the most number of people participating in a single-location mass clean-up

Keep Singapore Clean Movement in Schools

Students of Maha Bodhi School ensured their schoolmates have clean tables for their meals at the canteen.

The Public Hygiene Council continues to engage primary school students through the Buddy Clean Workshop. The programme aims to inculcate positive social values and norms on cleanliness and leverage peer influence and feedback to shape the behaviour of students to keep our environment clean. It also helps to foster shared ownership and responsibility of common spaces through regular cohort-wide cleaning.

Close to 1,200 students from 5 primary schools completed the workshop from May to July 2023. We hope the students have a better understanding on the rationale of cleaning up after themselves and show appreciation to the cleaners who have worked hard to ensure everyone has a clean, safe, and beautiful environment to live, work and play.

Students from Teck Ghee Primary School worked hand-in-hand to keep common spaces clean.

The Public Hygiene Council (PHC) unveiled a new “Clean It Forward for a Better SG” campaign at the Keep Clean, Singapore! 2023 Launch Event on Saturday, 13 May 2023.

The campaign message – Clean It Forward For A Better SG anchors the rollout of initiatives to encourage Singapore residents to strengthen our social compact by charting a cleaner way forward together. Mediacorp artist, Bryan Wong, was the singer of the original composed TVC jingle that accompanied the newly launched campaign film.

Music is the universal language. A music video with catchy tune and snazzy dance moves was produced to remind everyone to clean up after ourselves. Along the concept of paying it forward, this campaign urges everyone to keep public spaces and amenities clean as acts of consideration for others. When everyone make it a point to keep public space clean, we can be assured that we will all benefit from a truly clean Singapore.

The annual Keep Clean Singapore campaign was launched on 13 May 2023 with a new theme to encourage Singaporeans to Clean It Forward for a better SG

Keep Clean, Singapore! 2023 Launch Event

The Public Hygiene Council (PHC) was joined by Guest of Honour, Mr Chan Chun Sing, Minister for Education at its launch of the annual Keep Clean, Singapore! 2023 (KCS) on Sunday, 13 May 2023. The campaign message – Clean it forward for a better SG, seeks to encourage everyone to create a better Singapore by being considerate to others. Simple acts like leaving behind a clean table after our meals, leaving a clean toilet after use, and leaving behind a clean environment will help us make a better Singapore.

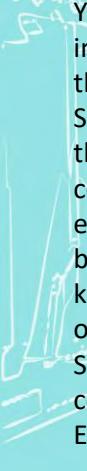

Keep Clean, Singapore! (KCS) campaign is organised every year to raise awareness on the problem of littering and nudge fellow Singapore residents to take collective responsibility to uphold higher standards of hygiene and cleanliness in their everyday lives. The PHC believes that welding the ‘stick’ is not the only solution. It is equally important to chart our ways forward together with a mindset shift and make changes to our attitudes. Through this year’s campaign, the PHC would like to urge everyone to take action and clean it forward so that we can all enjoy a truly clean Singapore in the coming years.

Minister for Education, Mr Chan Chun Sing, said at the launch that raising the hygiene standards of Singapore requires everyone’s efforts and also a change in mentality.

“If each and every one of us has a responsibility, has within our DNA to not dirty the place in the first place, then I think we have succeeded. We get it right from young, we will have a better generation in time to come.”

The Keep SG Clean Comic Strip Competition

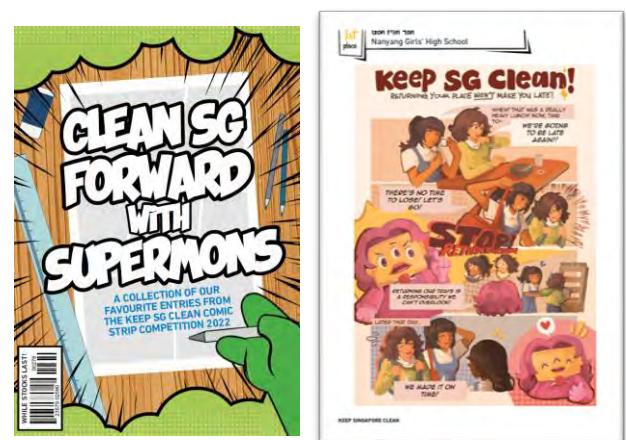

Guest of Honour, Mr Chan Chun Sing, Minister for Education, and the Public Hygiene Council (PHC) Chairman, MR Edward D'Silva, with winners of the "Keep SG Clean" Comic Strip Competition.

Youths are catalysts for change. It is important that we inculcate in them the right values and habits to keep Singapore clean. The cleanliness habits that they learnt in school should continue through their adult years. To engage our youths and inspire them to be more aware of the importance of keeping Singapore clean, the PHC organised the “Keep SG Clean Comic Strip Competition” last year in collaboration with the Ministry of Education (MOE).

This is the second year running that the PHC and MOE have embarked on a partnership to creatively engage and educate students on the importance of cleanliness and good hygiene. The competition attracted a good number of submissions in two categories: “Keep Singapore Clean”, and “Clean Public Toilets”. Close to 200 entries from 30 schools were received. The top two winners for both categories, Goh Min Xuan, (14 years old) and Goh Min Yan, (14 years old), are sisters who are currently students at Nanyang Girls’ High School.

Mr Chan Chun Sing, Minister for Education, presented awards to ten students with the best entries. The ten winning works were on display at the KCS Launch Event and will subsequently be exhibited at selected schools, public transport nodes, major community hubs and shopping malls.

Launch of Clean SG Forward with Supermons Comics Notebook

To share the students' works and to promote the positive messaging, the PHC had compiled the shortlisted entries into a book for everyone to enjoy. The PHC and MOE are working out the distribution plans to schools. And a copy was given to all the invited guests of the KCS Launch Event.

SG Clean Day Largest Cleanup sets two entries in the Singapore Book of Records

In conjunction with the Keep Clean, Singapore! 2023 launch event, the SG Clean Day Largest Clean-up was conducted at F1 Pit Building and across different parts of Singapore on the morning of Saturday, 13 May 2023.

Flagged off by Ms Denise Phua, Mayor of Central Singapore District, the Public Hygiene Council successfully set two entries in the Singapore Book of Records – (i) new record for the Most Number of People in a Multiple-Location Clean-Up and (ii) new record for the Most Number of Participants in a Single-Location Clean-Up. This record breaking community-led effort sought to ignite new conversations and actions by Singapore residents and promote understanding on what it means to care for common spaces beyond the doorsteps of our homes. It also aimed to mould a generation of compassionate youths to step up and champion the keep Singapore clean cause.

Expanding the quarterly SG Clean Day initiative with new partner onboard

Since 2021, the PHC have been organising the quarterly SG Clean Day as one of its key initiatives. The PHC has successfully onboarded a new partner with each quarterly SG Clean Day. These partners include the 17 town councils, National Parks Board (NParks), Singapore's National Water Agency PUB, major dormitories, retailers, shopping mall operators, major tourist attractions, Land Transport Authority, and public transport operators in Singapore. SAF joined as our new quarterly SG Clean Day partner on 13 May 2023.

More than 6,000 people turned up for the SG Clean Day – Largest Clean-Up event at F1 Pit

Ms Denise Phua, Mayor for Central Singapore District with Ms Gloria Tan, PHC Executive Director, Mr Edward D'Silva, then PHC Chairman, and Mr Andrew Khng PHC Chairman, flagged off close to 5,000 participants for SG Clean Day Largest Clean-Up

Mr Ong Eng Huat from Singapore Book of Records (SBOR) presented the certificates to Mayor for Central Singapore District, Ms Denise Phua, flanked by PHC Executive Director, Ms Gloria Tan and then PHC Chairman, Mr Edward D'Silva.

Keep Clean Singapore! 2023 Satellite Event

Roving into the heartlands, the Public Hygiene Council (PHC) held the Keep Clean, Singapore (KCS) 2023 satellite event on Sunday, 28 May 2023, from 11am to 7pm, at Bedok Town Square. The event is an extension to the KCS 2023 launch event on 13 May 2023 to raise awareness of the PHC's initiatives and encourage residents to take greater ownership and responsibility to keep our home clean.

Beside sing-alongs to the new KCS campaign theme song, there were dance challenges, public hygiene-related trivia quizzes with attractive prizes, and opportunities to meet the PHC's Keep SG Clean Supermons! Participants were also waiting eagerly to meet their favourite Mediacorp artiste, Bryan Wong and Mediacorp YES 933 DJ, Hazelle Teo, who were the event hosts.

Also, on display for the first time in the community were the 10 winning entries from the Keep SG Clean Comic Strip competition. The 10 pieces from secondary school students showcased creativity, imagination and the artistic talents of our youths in envisioning for a clean and hygienic Singapore.

CLEAN IT FORWARD® Conversation with Youths

Public Hygiene Council looks to work with youths to implement community projects for a truly clean Singapore

The "Clean It Forward Conversation with Youths" was held on Saturday, 17 June 2023. Organised by the Public Hygiene Council (PHC), this dialogue also brought along a series of activities and initiatives under the PHC's Keep Clean, Singapore! 2023 (KCS) annual campaign which was launched on 13 May 2023 to a close.

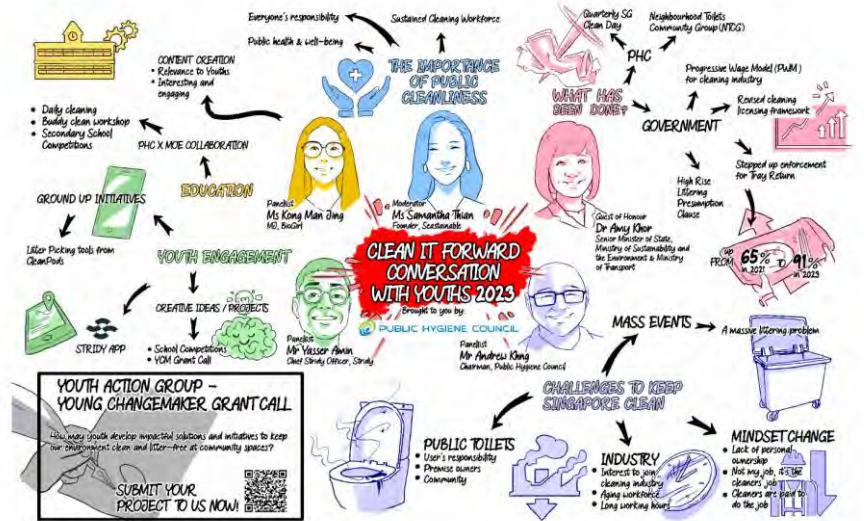

Almost 100 youths from the R.I.S.E. Champions Network, Institutes of Higher Learning (IHLs), and youth organisations came together for a meaningful discussion on public cleanliness issues and the roles that youths could play towards making Singapore a cleaner home for all.

The dialogue was led by a dynamic and diverse group of panellists which comprised youths like Ms Kong Man Jing and Mr Yasser Amin, who are passionate and active advocates like of creating a cleaner and more environmentally sustainable Singapore. The event was moderated by Ms Samathan Thian. The panellists were also joined by Guest of Honour, Dr Amy Khor, Senior Minister of State, Ministry of Sustainability and the Environment & Ministry of Transport, and new Chairman of the Public Hygiene Council, Mr Andrew Khng.

The topics discussed during the dialogue aimed to explore how youths could develop impactful solutions and sustainable initiatives to elevate the standard of Singapore's public cleanliness and to keep public spaces clean and litter-free.

Big smiles from everyone after the meaningful session.

In support of the PHC's Keep Clean, Singapore! month-long activation, the MSE Family organised a community clean-up on 1 June 2023. Led by PS(SE) Stanley Loh, close to 500 staff from Ministry of Sustainability and the Environment and its statutory board - National Environment Agency, Public Utilities Board (PUB) and Singapore Food Agency (SFA) joined in the litter picking held around the Environment Building and SFA's office in Jurong.

PUBLIC HYGIENE COUNCIL Appreciation

The 7th term of the Public Hygiene Council (PHC) begins on 1 June 2023 for a period of two years. An appreciation was held on 13 June 2023 to thank our ex-Chairman Mr Edward D'Silva and members who have stepped down from the council. It also provided a platform for outgoing members and new members to interact, network and cross share ideas how to further advance the works of the council. It was a simple but very warm and interactive get together for more than 40 past and new members!

A great get-together for current and past term council members.

New Chairman Mr Andrew Khng presented a token of appreciation to then PHC Chairman Mr Edward D'Silva for serving the Council as Chairman from 2015 to 2023.

KEEP SINGAPORE CLEAN

Opportunities for the Singapore Youth

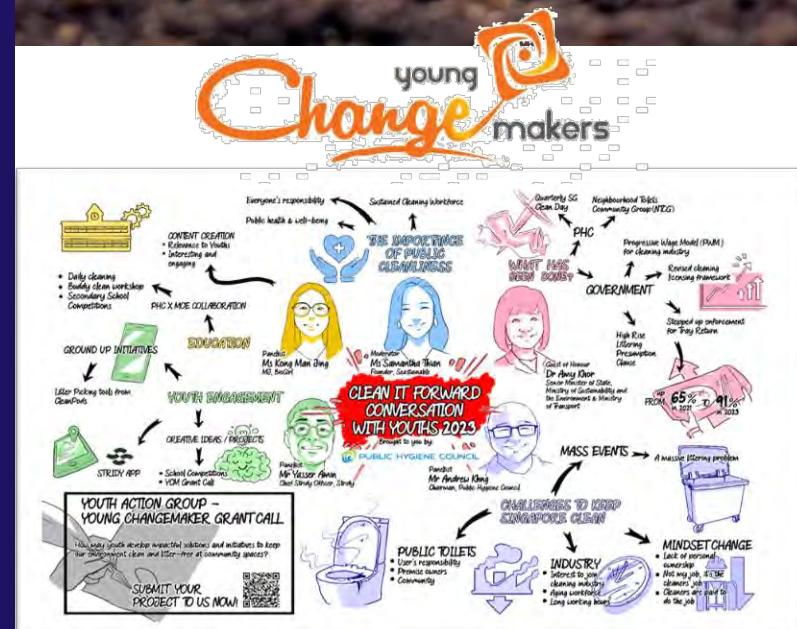

To step up and champion the cause
to keep Singapore clean

The National Youth Council (NYC) and the Public Hygiene Council (PHC) are currently accepting applications for the Young ChangeMakers (YCM) Grant to help youths realise cleanliness related ideas that will benefit the Singapore community and society. The programme aims to provide seed funding for youths to implement youth-led ground-up initiatives and solutions that can contribute to greater understanding and awareness of Singapore's public cleanliness standards. Youth curators can claim up to 80% of the total claimable costs (capped at S$5,000) and prompt more youths to take action to improve our community and society. Project applications for this Young ChangeMakers grant opened on 17 June 2023 and will close on 12 August 2023.

PHC's Youth Action Group members will mentor the youth groups, and individuals who had successfully submitted innovative ideas and solutions to address community littering issues at shared public spaces.

Project teams are tasked to address this challenge statement:

How can youth develop impactful solutions and initiatives to keep our environment clean and litter-free at shared community spaces?

This collaboration aims to support and mould a generation of Singaporeans who not only have a strong foundation of clean habits, but are also catalysts for change. The PHC looks forward to working with youths to implement community projects, for a truly clean Singapore

If you and your friends are keen to make a positive mark on the environment and have good ideas on how we can address littering problems in the community, do reach out to us by 12 August 2023. COASTAL NATIVES

In this issue, we feature an article from Coastal Natives touching on sustainability as we reflect the environmental issues plaguing our planet.

With over 70% of the Earth's surface covered by water, marine ecosystems play a vital role in regulating our planet's climate and atmosphere, absorbing vast amounts of carbon dioxide, and producing oxygen that sustains life on land. Today, our world is under threat from human activities that mar its beauty and disturb the ocean's balance that we depend on.

The upcoming Waves of Change Festival 2023 by Coastal Natives presents the work of artists and ocean lovers, ranging from sculptures and augmented reality art, to audio experiences and interactive multimedia works that highlight the tension between human progress and ocean protection. The artists juxtapose vibrant depictions of marine life against the blight that plastic pollution and climate change have inflicted. By confronting us with the man-made challenges the ocean faces, these works encourage us to consider what we can do as individuals to protect and save this planet that we call home.

Cessation of SG Clean Quality Mark

CERTIFICATION BY:

Launched in February 2020, the SG Clean Quality Mark was introduced by the National Environment Agency (NEA) as a proactive response to the COVID-19 pandemic which was spreading fast across the world then. The Public Hygiene Council (PHC) took over the administration in September 2021.

The objective of SG Clean Quality Mark was clear. It was developed and designed to rapidly raise our overall environmental sanitation standards by rallying businesses to uphold good hygiene practices, and instil wider confidence in Singaporeans to continue support our local enterprises.

The certification scheme was a success and this was evident in the transition to endemicity in April 2022 while some countries were still facing high infection rates then. With this transition, the SG Clean Quality Mark was discontinued upon its scheduled expiry on 30 June 2023.

We believe the large number of participating premises also helped us to put the COVID-19 pandemic in check. More than 36,000 premises (childcare facilities, schools, hawker stalls, coffeeshops, public transport nodes, sports facilities, hotels, tourist attractions, and social service facilities, etc) have been certified SG Clean since the inception of the scheme.

However, good hygiene practices still need to be continued to safeguard our public health. Therefore, in place of the SG Clean Quality Mark, the PHC had developed a checklist to guide premises operators to continue the practice of good environmental hygiene routines.

This checklist is now available on PHC website (www.publichygienecouncil.sg). We encourage all premises operators to make use of this list as we strive to make Singapore truly clean!

WHY WE CARE ABOUT SG CLEAN

ENVIRONMENTAL HYGIENE CHECKLIST

The Environmental Hygiene Checklist was developed by the Public Hygiene Council (PHC) to guide premises operators in maintaining good environmental hygiene practices and preventing the spread of infectious diseases. This checklist is divided into different sections to focus on different aspects of environmental hygiene. Users may utilise section(s) of the checklist that are relevant to them. Together, we can keep Singapore's public spaces clean and hygienic.

Cleaning Regime

1. Put in place a regular cleaning schedule, including general spring cleaning once every 3 / 6 / 12 months.
2. Carry out disinfection on areas with frequent touchpoints or those that are heavily soiled.
3. Disinfect cleaning equipment prior to re-use.
4. Differentiate cloths for cleaning and sanitising by colours.
5. Develop and implement processes to protect workers / contractors performing disinfection work.

Premises operators are encouraged to refer to NEA's Environmental Cleaning Guidelines and the List of Active Ingredients for General Disinfection.

General Hygiene

6. Engage a pest control operator or have a pest control regime in place.
7. Check your premise regularly to remove all potential vector breeding spots.
8. Trash bins are covered at all times and cleared daily.
9. Trash are kept within the bin liners, and properly tied up before disposal.
10. Cleaners make use of gloves or tongs when handling and disposing trash.
11. Ensure that back-of-house waste management areas are washed and disinfected regularly after refuse collection.
12. Air Conditioning, Mechanical Ventilation (ACMV) system: cleaned, inspected and serviced regularly.
13. Increase ventilation for indoor air quality using any of the following methods:
 - a. Purge Indoor air 2 hours before and after occupancy
 - b. Increase outdoor air intake
 - c. Reduce indoor air recirculation
 - d. Open operable windows and doors as frequently as possible

ENVIRONMENTAL HYGIENE CHECKLIST

The Environmental Hygiene Checklist was developed by the Public Hygiene Council (PHC) to guide premises operators in maintaining good environmental hygiene practices and preventing the spread of infectious diseases. This checklist is divided into different sections to focus on different aspects of environmental hygiene. Users may utilise section(s) of the checklist that are relevant to them. Together, we can keep Singapore's public spaces clean and hygienic.

Common Areas

14. Ensure that common areas (e.g. walkways, lifts, doors and walls) are free of visible built up dust, cobwebs and litter.
15. For premises with vulnerable occupants (e.g. childcare, eldercare facilities, nursing homes etc.), to provide sanitiser at entrances and require all visitors to sanitise their hands before entering.

Premises operators are encouraged to refer to NEA's Indoor Air Quality Advisory to improve ventilation.

Premises with cooling towers are encouraged to refer to NEA's Guidelines for Aerosol Generating Systems.

Toilet Cleanliness

16. Ensure that hand-washing and toilet flushing facilities are in good working condition.
17. Ensure constant supply of liquid soap and toilet paper.
18. Toilets are cleaned and disinfected at least twice times a day.
19. Lightings are intact and functional, and of appropriate brightness.
20. Toilet seat, cover or squat pan, and urinal are functional with no leakage.
21. Toilet is odour free; the floor is dry with no water leakages.

Premises operators are encouraged to refer to NEA's Advisory on Public Toilets.

Food Safety and Hygiene

22. Put in place a regime to monitor health condition of worker(s). Food handler(s) who are unwell should not be allowed to be involved in food preparation.
23. Food handlers are to wash their hands before food preparation or cooking.
24. Food handlers should not handle ready-to-eat food with bare hands. Food should be handled using clean utensils and gloves.
25. Food handlers should put on clean clothes or aprons during food preparation and service. No jewellery should be worn.
26. Food preparation area should be clean, free of pests, and in good condition.
27. Hand washing facility with soap provided should be easily accessible at the food preparation area.
